TRAVEL TO KINGSTON

Getting to Kingston is really easy.

BY BUS: Kingston is only a two-hour drive from Ottawa, a two-and-half-hour drive from Toronto, and a three-hour drive from Montreal. There are a number of parking spots for tour buses downtown. Kingston also offers several bus-friendly accommodations, both downtown and close to the highway.

BY RAIL: VIA Rail offers multiple daily departures and arrivals connecting Kingston to Toronto, Ottawa, and Montreal. The Kingston VIA station is just 15 minutes away from downtown.

Visit viarail.ca for schedules.

BY AIR: Arriving at, and departing from, Kingston Airport is a stress-free travel option. The bright and easily navigable airport features friendly staff and streamlined service. It is just a 14-minute drive away from Kingston's downtown.

Fly into Kingston from Toronto with FlyGTA or from Montreal with Pascan Airlines. FlyGTA offers service from Toronto's Billy Bishop three times a week. Pascan offers twice-daily flights, seven days a week. Through Pascan's interline agreements with Air Canada and Air Transat, you can easily fly into Kingston via Montreal from anywhere in Canada, as well as internationally.
